REPRESENTATION ELECTIONS

The purpose of a representation election is to allow employees to determine via secret ballot which employee organization, if any, shall be certified to represent them in their employment relations with the employer.

Types of Elections

One common type of representation election conducted by PERB is a decertification election, in which a group of employees is seeking to remove the current exclusive representative or, often, a competing employee organization seeks to replace it. Other types of representation elections include initial elections (held when employees currently have no recognized or certified representative) and severance elections.

Qualifying for a Representation Election

A representation election is conducted by PERB only after the specific requirements for filing the decertification or other representation petition have been met. These requirements are spelled out in PERB regulations (California Code of Regulations, title 8, section 31001 et seq.). Forms and PERB's regulations are available on PERB's website at www.perb.ca.gov. Information regarding the filing of decertification and other petitions is also available on the PERB website and from PERB regional offices.

Setting Up the Provisions of the Election

Once PERB has determined that an election must be conducted, a Board agent will contact the parties to schedule a meeting or a conference call for the purpose of obtaining input regarding the mechanics of the upcoming election. Many of PERB's election procedures are spelled out in its regulations at sections 32720 through 32754.<sup>1</sup> "Parties" to the election is defined in Regulation 32721.

<sup>1</sup> Though Regulations 32720 through 32754 are not applicable to elections conducted under the Meyers-Milias-Brown Act, the Trial Court Employment Protection and Governance Act, and the Trial Court Interpreter Employment and Labor Relations Act, equivalent provisions can be found in Chapters 5, 7 and 8, respectively, of PERB's regulations.

With respect to the Building a Better Early Care and Education System Act (Early Care Act), which applies to family childcare providers, the statute sets forth specific election procedures; PERB's regulations apply where they are not inconsistent with the statute. (Educ. Code, § 8434, subd. (b).)

The goal of the election meeting is to arrive at a consensus on election mechanics so that PERB can approve a Consent Election Agreement, a sample of which is also included in this brochure (Attachment A). When the parties and PERB are unable to agree on the mechanics of the election, the Board agent will make the decision as to the manner in which the election will be conducted, and PERB will then issue a Directed Election Order.

To maximize voter opportunity, PERB conducts mailed ballot elections. In a mailed ballot election, PERB obtains mailing labels and/or home address information from the employer and sends a ballot to the home address of each eligible voter. Voters then cast their ballots and return them to PERB via first class mail. (PERB pays the postage.) In the mailed ballot election process, a mailing date and deadline for receipt of voted ballots must be selected. Other election mechanics decisions that must be made include:

- (1) Choosing a cut-off date for voter eligibility, and, in some cases, determining other voter eligibility requirements. (See Regulation 32728).
- (2) Choosing the deadline date by which election notices must be posted by the employer. (See Regulation 32724(b) and (c).)
- (3) Deciding upon the voter list format and deadline for receipt by PERB. (See Regulation 32726.)
- (4) Determining a date, time and location for the ballot count.
- (5) Selecting the order in which the choices on the ballot will be listed.

The Board agent may also request the parties to provide a description of the voting unit (i.e., what employee classifications are included in the unit and which positions are excluded from the unit). Additionally, the Board agent may ask each employee organization appearing on the ballot to describe how it wishes its name to appear on the ballot.

The Election Process

Notices and Mailed Ballots. Prior to the mailing of the ballots, the employer will be requested to post notices (provided by PERB) informing employees in the voting unit of the time, place, and manner of the election. (See Regulation 32724 (b) and (c).) After the notice to employees is posted, PERB will mail out the ballots to the addresses provided by the employer on the date specified in either the Consent Election Agreement or the Directed Election Order. (See Regulation 32722.)

Challenges. During the election process, any party may challenge for good cause the eligibility of a voter. (See Regulation 32732.) If challenged ballots are sufficient in number to affect the outcome of the election, they will be resolved by PERB. (See Regulations 32732(c), 32735 and 32746.)

Observers. The PERB election supervisor will allow each interested party to designate observer(s) to witness the counting of ballots.

After the Election

Tally of Ballots. Upon completion of the voting, and at the time and place specified in the Consent Election Agreement or Directed Election Order, PERB will count the ballots and issue an official tally of ballots to the parties. (See Regulation 32734.)

Runoff Election. If no choice on the ballot receives a majority of the valid votes cast, a runoff election will be scheduled. (See Regulation 32736.)

Objections To The Election. Within 10 days following the service of the tally of ballots, any party to the election may file objections to the election. Filing requirements, permissible grounds for objections and procedures for resolving objections are spelled out in Regulations 32738 through 32744.

Certification. A certification of results of the election (if “no representation” received a majority of votes cast) or a certification of an exclusive representative will be issued by PERB effective the eleventh day after service of the tally of ballots if the election has determined a winner and if no timely objections have been filed.

For More Information

If you have questions or need additional information about representation elections, please contact the Board agent who is handling your case or contact a PERB regional office.
